SCM is the Open Access Journal of the German Communication Association (DGpuK) and Affiliate Journal of the International Communication Association (ICA). The journal represents all areas of communication studies and the entire spectrum of theoretical and methodological approaches. The journal is published four times a year at the end of each quarter.

OPEN ACCESS
As an Open Access Journal the SCM is available for free via the Nomos eLibrary. All articles are published under a CC BY-NC-ND 3.0 license. Moreover, SCM is included in the DOAJ – Directory of Open Access Journals.

PEER REVIEW PROCESS
Every paper published in the SCM is run through a double-blind peer-review process prior to publication. All those selected as reviewers will be knowledgeable in the subject of the work they have to assess in both a German-speaking and an international context, and their own publications will have proved them to be experts in their respective field or the methodology employed in the work to be reviewed. The minimum requirement for someone to be considered as a reviewer is a doctoral degree; however, renowned holders of university chairs are approached to be reviewers first.

Authors must adhere to the rules of good academic practice. Plagiarised submissions are inadmissible and will not be published.
